

La Casita de Wendy

Inés Aguilar (1975) and Iván Martínez (1972) are two designers from Madrid who are behind "la casita de wendy." They studied Architecture and Philosophy at Universities in Madrid. Their designs are inspired by nature, dreams, magic, music, and literature. They use a carefully chosen color palette, simple shapes, original patterns, and pay tribute to textile craftsmanship.

They have presented their collections at fashion weeks in Madrid, Barcelona, and Paris and they have sold their designs internationally in prestigious stores like Barneys and Anthropologie in the USA, Cocktail in Hong Kong, Matsuya, Rue Charlot, Mystic and Lamp in Tokyo etc...

Their project aims to counter fast fashion and planned obsolescence. They believe in ethical fashion, free from people and child exploitation, local production to create jobs in Europe and reduce carbon print, and eco-friendly practices. Their garments are of high quality and durability, transcending the fast pace of trends and the global fashion industry.
